LIVESTREAM FOR SAVE THE CHILDREN

Building
Challenges

Ready, set, build! Put your gaming and building skills to the test to raise funds and create lasting change for children. Get creative on games like Minecraft, The Sims, or Roblox (to name just a few!) and livestream your builds to colleagues. Gaming not your thing? Get involved by viewing, voting and interacting with your colleagues' livestreams!

HOW TO GET INVOLVED

BUILDERS GET READY

- Teams and individuals can show-off their skills and livestream their favourite building or creating game to colleagues.
- Generate some healthy competition across the company and task players to create or build something specific– set a time limit for a real challenge!
- Go head-to-head with different departments to build the biggest city, most successful zoo or craziest house design.

EMPLOYEE VOTE: At the end of the week, viewers vote for the winner of the building competition via donations e.g. £1 is one vote, £3 is three votes etc.

SPONSOR A BUILD: EG £10 sponsors a room in a Sims house, £20 sponsors a house on Minecraft etc.! Gamers can also add elements to their builds as a thank you

ADD A CHALLENGE: Viewers 'buy' challenges for their colleagues to complete e.g. A £5 donation means they must add a surprise feature to their build, £10 means they have to change a design element etc.!

NOT A GAMER?

Watch your colleagues build live on stream and get ready to vote for your favourite creations! You can also add challenges and sponsor build elements in return for donations

GAMING CHALLENGES FOR SAVE THE CHILDREN

Tournament
Ideas

Ready, set, play! Team up for a co-op challenge or go head-to-head to become a winner: Sports, races and tournaments can push teams to prove they are the true champions for children!

CO-OP CHALLENGE – GATHER YOUR SQUAD

- Play any game in co-op mode and race to complete it in a set time for donations. Fastest team to complete the game wins a prize.
- Hold an Overcooked tournament and test your teamwork, communication skills at the same time.
- Take on a co-op season on EAFC and finish top of the table. Ask for donations per entry from your supporters and for a top 3-5 finish.
- Set your own challenge in Stardew Valley without doing ANYTHING that will give you farming EXP. People can donate when you hit any other EXP milestone.

DONATE TO TAKE PART: Employees can pay an entry fee to take part in a competition to prove they can complete a game the fastest or with the highest score.

COMPETE AGAINST OTHERS

- E-sports tournaments are the perfect way to set up some friendly competition – think Mario Kart, MA EAFC, Rocket League, and Trackmania.
- Jackboxgames.com have tons of games suited for multiplayer parties. Their Party Packs are a top pick.
- Did you know you can play boardgames online? Tournaments can be explored online, such as through Chess.com.
- Hold a Mario Party where teams take it in turns until you find your ultimate champion. Why not pair this with an in-person Christmas Jumper Day party at the office?

SPONSOR A TEAM: Employees can choose a team to back, pledging to donate based on their achievements E.G. £50 if they win a tournament, £10 if they beat a specific department.

ADD A CHALLENGE: Viewers 'buy' challenges for their colleagues to complete e.g. A £5 donation means they play with one hand, £10 means they close their eyes and depend on a teammate's instructions to guide them.
